Rephased traffic signals blamed for dramatic rise in figures

CONCERNS OVER EAST LONDON ROAD SAFETY

By Jenny Green

THE number of pedestrians and cyclists injured on roads in East London has risen dramatically.

According to figures from Transport for London, the number of injured cyclists has rocketed 57 per cent in Barking and Dagenham.

Similarly, pedestrian injuries have risen by 17 per cent in Barking and Dagenham and 10 per cent in Newham.

Local London Assembly member, John Biggs, whose remit includes both boroughs, as well as Tower Hamlets and the City of London, called the figures 'worrying' and blamed the failing on new traffic signals.

He said: "I am concerned this could be a trend. Mayor, Boris Johnson's programme of rephasing hundreds of traffic signals could be leading to increased traffic speeds, making London less pedestrian and cyclist friendly."

"My colleagues and I will be monitoring this, and ensuring that robust scrutiny of Transport for London's Road Safety Plan, due to be published in the next few months, takes tangible action to tackle any problems in East London and reverse this trend."

CONCERNED: London Assembly member, John Biggs, is worried about road safety in East London.

Cycling injuries has risen by six per cent in Newham since 2008, and a whopping 57 per cent in Barking and Dagenham.

The Mayor of London's office, however, defended road safety in the capital.

They told the YA how the Mayor was investing in a wide range of improvements and safety schemes – and that rephased traffic lights actually work in favour of pedestrians and road users.

The spokesperson said: "A massive amount of work is being done to improve safety on London's roads and over the last decade, the number of deaths and serious injuries on the streets of London has fallen by 57 per cent."

"There is always more that can be done, especially around the safety of the increasing numbers of cyclists on our streets, and that is exactly why the Mayor funds a variety of road safety schemes across the capital."

"Around a thousand sets of traffic signals are being rephased every year to ensure their timings remain as efficient and as safe as possible for pedestrians, as well as other road users."

"In many cases, the length of time pedestrians are given to cross the road is increased."

Building grant

BARKING and Dagenham Council has won a grant of £18million to build more than 600 council homes.

The money will be used to help fund the building of new housing on estates that have been earmarked for redevelopment.

It is part of £1.8billion, which is being distributed nationally by the Homes and Communities Agency (HCA).

Disability guide

A NEW disability guide has been launched for residents and visitors to Barking and Dagenham.

The guide - www.disabledgo.com - covers more than 1,000 venues including cinemas, hotels, parks, leisure centres, council offices, high street stores, restaurants, tourist attractions and more.

Visitors can find out the accessibility of many buildings in the borough.

Barking award

BARKING'S new Town Square has won another architecture award.

The Barking Central development was named joint overall winner at the New London Architecture awards, alongside the critically-acclaimed London 2012 cycling stadium.

Barking Central also won the Placemaking category at the awards ceremony on Tuesday, July 12.

ADVENTURE Island is pulling out all the stops for family fun this year, with a line-up of exciting weekends and the opening of a new ride.

Following the success of its Enchantment Weekend in April, the theme park is now busy preparing for its Circus Weekend on July 30 and 31, which will include entertainment from jugglers, magicians, stilt walkers and balloon modellers.

As Adventure Island is free to enter, anyone can enjoy the fun, and if you can't make the event you will still see stilt walkers, balloon modellers and entertainers at the park on many weekends throughout the year.

There's also a Talk like a Pirate Weekend on September 17 and 18, including sword fights and swashbuckling pirates; Big Saturday Nights Out with spectacular illuminations, a live DJ and the UK's top tribute acts on September 10, 17 and 24, October 1, 8, 15, 22 and 29, and November 5; and a Fright Fantastic event for Halloween, from October 28 to 30.

Adventure Island is a great place for family fun, thanks to 33 amazing rides, from Flying Jumbos and the American Whip for little ones, to the thrills of its rollercoaster, Rage.

Adventure Island has also opened its new ride, Kiddi-Koasta - a rollercoaster for the whole family, which is a great way for youngsters to experience their very first rollercoaster ride.

While the park was also hoping to open its new experience ride, The Time Machine, this year, delays mean it will not be at the park until 2012.

Mini Bands, which allow unlimited goes on 14 rides for children under one metre, start from £9; Junior Bands, which allow unlimited access to 24 rides for those between one and 1.2 metres tall, start from £15; while Big Adventure Bands for those who are 1.2 metres tall or over start from £19.

The park also offers a range of deals including free rail travel and half-price ride bands from 6pm on peak days.

Adventure Island is open throughout June, July and August, as well as during the October school holidays, and every weekend up until November 6.

CAMPAIGN: Barry D and Lloyd Anthony.

Record company's campaign on gun and knife crime awareness

By Martyn Dolton

A RECORD company is launching a campaign to help tackle gun and knife crime in East London.

Barry Dixon, known as Barry D, and his brother, Lloyd Anthony, have launched the campaign to create awareness.

The duo, who run Waltham Forest-based Standard Records, are looking to hold events including roadshows and fun days to spread their message of 'Be productive, not destructive'.

They have also worked with Rachel Hylton, of X-Factor fame, to create a charity single that will help raise funds and awareness for the campaign, which is due out later this year.

Barry said he wanted to do something to help reduce such an 'appalling' crime.

He said: "Gun and knife crime is a serious problem across London and we want to help raise awareness of this terrible crime which destroys lives."

"Waltham Forest Council have been very supportive of our cause and are helping us get in touch with organisations across the area to help raise funds to kick-start the campaign."

Barry is hoping to hold talks in schools, as well as a range of events such as talent competitions to show youngsters there is an alternative to turning to crime.

"Youngsters often have no option but to hang about on the streets because there isn't enough for them to do," Barry said.

"By running this campaign we can give the kids something productive to do and get them off the streets where the problems start."

To find out more about the campaign, visit www.standardrecords.co.uk

Council rides to the rescue of pony club

COUNCIL enforcement officials have saved a Pony Club event at the 11th hour.

Chelmsford Council considered taking action against Writtle College over the hosting of its annual three-week event for more than 120 youngsters.

The college was forced to halt the summer camp, but a last minute waiver by enforcement officials saved the day.

Paul Hazle, Essex Union South Pony Club assistant district commissioner, said: "We're so grateful the council has been able to use its discretion - for most of our young riders, this is the highlight of their summer."

"We've been coming here for more than 10 years." Chelmsford Council said it was happy to see the event go ahead this year without the need for planning enforcement, but warned the college to comply with rules in future.

A spokesman said: "Writtle College must ensure they work with Chelmsford Borough Council to ensure that all necessary regulations are strictly adhered to for such events going forward."

Rookie riders travel from all over Essex and east London to learn specialist riding skills in dressage, cross country and show jumping, as well as stable management and handling.

RELIEVED: Rider, Sophie Hazle, with Wallace

A Writtle College spokesperson said managers were 'delighted' officials had approved the event from Saturday until August 13.

A spokesman said: "The college values its relationship with its Pony Club friends very highly and looks forward to welcoming them once again for their summer camps."

For more information about the Pony Club, or to find out how to join, call district commissioner Jo Mulvey on 01268 554407 or visit www.pcuk.org

Met Police launch new non-emergency number

By Jenny Green

THE Metropolitan Police Service (MPS) has introduced a new phone number for non-emergency calls in London.

Since the launch on Monday, the number – 101 – will now be available 24 hours a day and used to report crimes that have already happened, seek crime prevention advice or make the MPS aware of local policing issues.

Latest figures reveal that less than a quarter of 999 calls require an emergency response, so 101 – which will replace the current 0300 number – aims to ease pressure on the existing service.

Residents should still dial 999 for incidents that require an urgent, immediate response.

Ian McPherson, assistant commissioner for territorial policing, said: “The introduction of 101 is one of the biggest changes in the way people can contact the police since 999 was introduced in the 1940s.

“Having just two phone numbers makes calling the Met a lot easier and makes our services more accessible.

“It is also expected to reduce the number of inappropriate 999 calls the Met receives, enabling us to respond to genuine emergencies more effectively.”

Mayor of London, Boris Johnson, welcomed the introduction of 101.

He said: “This quick and easy 101 number will help with a wide breadth of important issues that don’t require an immediate response.

“Some people will have inadvertently used 999 for things which aren’t emergencies, and this number will free up our blue light brigade to concentrate on critical matters, while offering the public an excellent way of reporting other issues.”

The 101 number will be rolled out across the country over the next 12 months. Callers who are deaf or have a hearing or speech impairment can use a textphone to call 18001 101, or 18000 in an emergency.

ON CALL: Officers monitor the new 101 phoneline.

Debbie sticks with business idea

By Peter Henn

FOR most people, coming down with the debilitating disorder ME is a tragedy, but one woman turned it into triumph.

Debbie Deboo contracted the illness three years ago and, initially, felt depressed about some of the side effects of the disease.

She told the YA: "What I really hated was the crutches you got from the NHS. They were grey, aluminium, and very depressing."

However, she was determined to do something about it.

Using a combination of rhinestones and glitter, she made the walking sticks sparkly – and so an idea was born.

She explained: "Rather than being something I wanted to hide behind, they gave me a lot of confidence – and people started to compliment me on it."

Now, Debbie, of Charlotte Gardens, Collier Row, has started up her own business – Glamsticks.

She started making

them and selling them at cost price two years ago, and has since sold 200 of them.

Celebrities have got in on the act, too, with Hollyoaks star Kelly-Marie Stewart using a pair at last year's British Soap Awards. Debbie, who claims incapacity benefit, was able to do her work under the Permitted Work Scheme, but wanted to use Glamsticks as a way of getting off state support.

The 43-year-old said: "This is something that has genuinely made a difference, and I want to make it as much of a success as I possibly can."

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. Classified Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement; (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after alterations.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for errors that are incorrect insertion, typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified leakage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unpurchased portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

Mitchell eyes Katsidis rematch after a classy win over Murray

Boxing

KEVIN Mitchell is eyeing a rematch with Australian Michael Katsidis following his superb victory over John Murray on Saturday night.

The 26-year-old claimed the vacant WBO inter-continental lightweight title over Mancunian, with a stoppage in the eighth round at the Liverpool Echo Arena.

In a quality fight, it seemed as if Manchester's Murray had the upper hand in the opening five rounds, but a change of tactics from Mitchell ensured the fight swung back his way.

A left shot left a bloodied and bruised Murray rocking in the seventh but he was saved by the bell.

However, Mitchell made sure in the next round, putting Murray to the ground forcing referee Richie Davies to stop the fight.

Mitchell is now targeting Katsidis to avenge his defeat to him in May last year in three rounds at Upton Park – a performance he put down to poor preparations.

He said: "That's the fight I want. I want redemption after what happened to me last year.

"I wasn't right and I'd love a second chance. I'm sure Frank Warren can get Katsidis back over here.

"I've thought about nothing but beating him since I lost at Upton Park.

"West Ham is waiting and I won't let my supporters down a second time. I want to fight again at Upton Park before West Ham leave for the Olympic Stadium, and Katsidis is the perfect fight."

Mitchell also paid tribute to Murray and promised a rematch, but with a world title on the line. "John turned down the chance of world title fight to meet me instead," he said.

"He's a true gentleman and we're good mates. I'll return his generosity by giving him a rematch in a year or so.

"By then I will be world champion, and the fight will be even bigger. He was good to me, and I'll keep my promise to him."

If it was a good night for Mitchell, it was a terrible night for his Dagenham counterpart, Nicky Cook.

The 31-year-old was challenging for Ricky Burns' WBO super-featherweight title, but ended up being stretchered out of the ring after suffering an injury from the opening punch.

Burns caught Cook to the body which left him complaining to a problem to his lower back.

After trying to carry on, Cook's corner threw in the towel after 93 seconds. He was later diagnosed with a prolapsed disc.

Promoter Frank Warren said: "Nicky was up to it physically - he passed all his medicals.

He's been training for the fight, he trained for his last fight. It's a freak thing. I've never seen anything like it."

Good showings from WGEL athletes

Athletics

MEDAL winning efforts from Ben Challenger, Anthony Oshodi and Kirsty MacKintosh helped Woodford Green Athletics Club with Essex Ladies at the England Track and Field Championships over the weekend.

There were also other good placings in finals from Tara Bird, Jess Sparke and Hannah Frankson.

The event at Bedford, which took place in very windy conditions and heavy rain showers, is in its second year, and two weeks before the major domestic competition of the season – the UK Championships and World Championship Trials.

In the field events Woodford athletes stood out. The medals were led by Challenger, a former 2.30m high jumper, now embarking on a serious comeback after placing second as he equalled his season's best of 2.11m.

Oshodi, last year's UK number one junior, placed third in the shot with 16.29m in his first year as a senior, while MacKintosh in the pole vault finished third with 3.45m.

In the women's 400m, Bird improved her season's best by 0.8 secs, as she placed a good fourth with 54.20 secs.

Also fourth was Sparke in a slow tactical 1500m where she recorded 4m 47.59 secs, having placed sixth the previous day in the 800m with 2m10.26 secs.

The women's triple jump was a high standard event with six athletes over 13m, Frankson's effort of 13.14m placed fifth, and behind her in eighth was Stephanie Aneto in a season's best of 12.52m.

Another to place fifth was Stephanie Gaynor in the 100m hurdles where she recorded 13.78 secs while in the men's 110m hurdles Dan Davis was sixth with 14.35 secs but perhaps a little disappointed after the 14.09 secs he recorded to qualify for the final.

In the women's long jump, Kim Murray was another to place sixth with 5.71m. In the men's discus, Tom Norman was a little below par, but was also sixth with 52.13m, ahead of Chris Linque, eighth with 47.33m and Devon Douglas, ninth with 45.63m.

The men's 100m was of a high standard, and in the semi-finals, although not qualifying for the final there were season's best performances for both Eugene Ayanful who recorded 10.53 secs and Junior Ejehu with 10.56 secs.

BRONZE: Shot putter Anthony Oshodi.

Clubs prepare for Ballesteros competition

Golf

TWO golf courses in Essex are taking part in an national amateur charity golf event this weekend.

Golfers at South Essex Golf Club, near Brentwood, and Stapleford Abbotts Golf Club, near Romford, will tee off in their bid not only to raise over £1,000 each for charity, but also to try to qualify for the national finals of The Seve Ballesteros Foundation National Golf Club Championship.

The event is part of a nationwide initiative which will see thousands of golfers at golf clubs throughout the UK raise money for Seve's Foundation, which funds research into brain cancer. Tragically, Seve Ballesteros lost his fight against brain cancer in May this year.

The final will take place in September at The Shire, London, the only Seve Ballesteros-designed golf course in the UK.

The four top Men's and the four top Ladies' teams from participating clubs around the UK will qualify.

A strong field of golfers is expected to turn out at both of the Crown Golf-owned clubs on the day, as the clubs always throws themselves wholeheartedly behind fundraising events.

Crown Golf spokesman, Nick Moran, said: "We are hoping to beat the totals we raised last year for Help for Heroes in the National Golf Club Challenge event. Our members are an exceptional group of people, and tremendously generous, so we look forward to a fun and fruitful day."

West Ham United

Cole is staying put

WEST Ham striker Carlton Cole has said he remains committed to the club and will do so until his told different.

The England man had been linked with a move to Stoke City, but that deal seems to have collapsed.

Cole, 27, told the club's website: "I am a West Ham player and have no knowledge that this is going to be any different.

"There has been a lot of things reported and that it was a done deal that I was moving to another club, but this is not the case and I want our fans to know, unless I am told anything different, I am as committed as ever to the team and getting the club back in the Premier League."

The Hammers pulled out of a deal to sign Icelandic international Eidur Gudjohnsen.

Boss Sam Allardyce, who managed the former Chelsea and Barcelona man at Bolton, said he was 'not prepared to wait' for the forward. Gudjohnsen has since signed for AEK Athens.

Essex County Cricket Club

New deal for Cook

ESSEX and England batsman Alastair Cook has signed a two-year deal to stay with the county.

The 26-year-old has played for Essex throughout his county career, making his debut for them in 2003.

He has since gone on to become one of England's most important players, helping England to victory in the Ashes in Australia and becoming captain of their one day side earlier this year.

Cook enjoyed leading England to a 3-2 one day series victory over Sri Lanka despite a shaky start in the helm.

Cook said: "I have played at Essex all my life and they have always been very supportive when I play and when away with England.

"I look forward to being part of a young squad which I'm sure will turn trophies and be successful in the coming years.

Essex head coach, Paul Grayson, said: "Everyone at the club is delighted that he has signed a further two years to his contract and we of course continue to appreciate the commitments he has with England.

"When Alastair is at the Club, he is an outstanding player with great professionalism and provides a huge influence to the younger players in the team with the way he conducts himself and trains.

"He has very promising years ahead of him and we will always welcome him back to Essex when he is not away with England."

Meanwhile, Essex missed out on the chance to go top of their CB40 group after their match at Nottinghamshire was rained off on Sunday.

Essex had been set a revised target of 74 from 10 overs at Trent Bridge, but never made it out to the crease.

Notts were on 127-7 after 23 overs before the rain cut short their innings.

Head coach Paul Grayson said: "I was very disappointed and I expressed my opinions to the ground staff who said that they couldn't get the covers off in time.

"Obviously I felt that we had a good chance of chasing down those runs and it's very frustrating after we had bowled very well. We thought we would have got the runs required."

Essex go level at the top with Somerset but have played a game more.

They were due to host Glamorgan on Wednesday, in what would be Kiwi Scott Styris' last game with the county before he heads home to New Zealand.
